My Grace is Sufficient for You

Our Lord says these words directly to each one of us so that we should be filled with fortitude and with hope when we encounter trials. Our very weakness will help us to rejoice at Christ's power; it will teach us to love and to feel the need to be always very close to Jesus. Our very failures, our unfulfilled plans, will lead us to exclaim : When I am weak, then I am strong, for Christ is with me.

Whenever we are beset with setbacks or weariness, the devil will try to make us stray from the path by causing a lack of trust and discouragement to creep into our soul. That is why today we must learn the lesson St Paul wants to teach us : it is at such times that Christ is especially present to us and ready to help us ; we just have to turn to him.

From our trials and tribulations we can draw out much good. For in undergoing them we will show Our Lord that we need Him and that we love Him. They will set us on fire with love and increase all the virtues within us, for a bird flies not only by the impulse of its wings, but also by the lift and resistance of the air: in some way we have need of obstacles in order that our love may grow.

By prayer, leading a life of hard and constant work, carrying out the duties of our work in an exemplary manner, fostering a great horror for every sin, however small it may seem, and above all making a real effort to increase within ourselves our love for Christ and Our Lady, we will be more aware of the divine greatness and beauty of the undertakings the Trinity leaves in our hands.

Lord, put not your trust in me. But I, I put my trust in You
